

Short Bio (75 words)

At sixteen, Irish folk singer-songwriter Sonny Casey began busking on the streets of Galway before busking her way all across Europe.

Raised on Springsteen and traditional Irish Sean-nós singing, her music is shaped by the wild landscape of her home in Connemara, weaving traditional Irish vocal elements into a contemporary folk sound. Her music centres around warm, intimate vocals and narrative songwriting.

Her latest upcoming single 'Silence' is set for release on October 9th 2026.

Medium Bio (178 words)

At sixteen, Irish folk singer-songwriter Sonny Casey began busking on the streets of Galway before busking her way all across Europe.

Raised on Springsteen and traditional Irish Sean-nós singing, her music is shaped by the wild landscape of her home in Connemara, weaving traditional Irish vocal elements into a contemporary folk sound. Her music centres around warm, intimate vocals and narrative songwriting. A native Irish speaker, Sonny writes in both English and as Gaeilge.

Sonny has toured Ireland and Germany, opening for Mick Flannery at his sold out Irish shows, sharing stages with the likes of Susan O'Neill and Liam Ó Maonlaí, while playing festivals such as the Galway Folk Festival, Secret Song and Stendhal Festival.

Produced by Kealan Kenny (Pa Sheehy), with string arrangements by Aine Delaney (Rob Moose) and featuring long-term collaborator and drummer Tom Osander (Damien Rice, Lisa Hannigan), her upcoming single 'Silence' marks Sonny Casey as a compelling new voice in the evolving Irish folk scene.

'Silence' is set for release on October 9th 2026.

Sonny is currently based between Ireland and Berlin.

Long Bio (254 words)

At sixteen, Irish folk singer-songwriter Sonny Casey began busking on the streets of Galway before busking her way all across Europe.

Raised on Springsteen and traditional Irish Sean-nós singing, her music is shaped by the wild landscape of her home in Connemara, weaving traditional Irish vocal elements into a contemporary folk sound. Her music centres around warm, intimate vocals and narrative songwriting.

In 2020, she moved to Berlin. With the support of those who'd fallen for her music along her travels, she crowdfunded her debut EP Phoebe and sold out her debut headline show, firmly anchoring herself in the city's thriving music scene. She made her television debut, performing Danny Boy on Germany's 'ARD' with violinist Daniel Hope.

A native Irish speaker, Sonny writes in both English and as Gaeilge. In 2023 her original Irish language song 'Leon' won second place at the Pan Celtic National Song Contest 2023.

Sonny has since toured Ireland and Germany, opening for Mick Flannery at his sold out Irish shows, sharing stages with the likes of Susan O'Neill and Liam Ó Maonlaí, while playing festivals such as the Galway Folk Festival, Secret Song and Stendhal Festival.

Produced by Kealan Kenny (Pa Sheehy), with string arrangements by Aine Delaney (Rob Moose) and featuring long-term collaborator and drummer Tom Osander (Damien Rice, Lisa Hannigan), her upcoming single 'Silence' marks Sonny Casey as a compelling new voice in the evolving Irish folk scene.

'Silence' is set for release on October 9th 2026.

Sonny is currently based between Ireland and Berlin.